

WILSON'S TALK HERE TO CLOSE CAMPAIGN

President to Speak at Waldorf, in the Garden and at Cooper Union.

TAMMANY TO GREET HIM

Old Time Parade Promised Tonight, With Murphy Heading Cohorts.

With Chairman Vanne McCormick presiding, a countrywide landslide for President Wilson, the Democratic campaign virtually will come to a close tonight following the first and only appearance of the President in New York city. He will make three speeches while here, the most important at Madison Square Garden to-night. His first address will be at a luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria given by the Wilson Business Men's League. He will appear in Cooper Union directly following the Madison Square Garden meeting to address young voters.

President Wilson's presence in the city will be attended by a Democratic demonstration that the Democratic leaders assert will constitute the greatest reception ever given a visiting President. Hundreds of bands, thousands of marchers and the traditional red fire brigade will be on the job.

The parade will be under the auspices of Tammany Hall, and Sheriff Al Smith, chairman of the committee on arrangements, promises that there will be more than 50,000 real Democrats in line. Add to this number the Wilson and Marshall clubs and the Wilson College Men's League, under "Big Bill" Edwards, and the total number in line is expected to reach 75,000.

Murphy May March Too.

To dispel the current impression that Tammany Hall is only halfheartedly for the President, Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, will walk at the head of the parade with the cohorts of Tammany. The "Chief" will also occupy a box, according to present plans, at the Madison Square Garden meeting.

The marchers will assemble at Fifty-ninth street and Fifth avenue and the route will be down Fifth avenue to Madison Square Garden. Each Assembly district will be in line, led by its district leader. Sandwiched in among the district divisions will be several thousand boys attired as Uncle Sam, George Washington and Indiana. Between forty and fifty bands will keep things lively and help to drown out voices of those marchers who are moved to song.

At the Garden the Tammanyites will fill into the big structure, while between 5,000 and 7,000 young voters will continue to Cooper Union, where they will be addressed later by the President.

The President will arrive in the city about 10 o'clock this morning and will go direct to the home of Col. E. M. House, in East Fifty-third street. He will rest there until he goes to the Waldorf luncheon. Following the luncheon he will return to the House home, remaining there until the Madison Square meeting at 8 o'clock.

The Wilson Business Men's luncheon is expected to bring together prominent business men who are working in the President's behalf. Mayor Mitchell will make his first appearance of the campaign and will occupy a seat at the President's table. The Mayor will also sit on the platform at Madison Square Garden.

Secretary Houston to Speak.

Charles R. Crane, president of the league, will preside. The only speaker except the President will be Secretary Houston of the Department of Agriculture. At the President's table, in addition to the Mayor, will be Gov. Fielder of New Jersey; Cleveland H. Dodge, who contributed $75,000 to the Wilson campaign; Col. E. M. House, Jacob H. Schiff, W. L. Saunders, ex-Gov. Walsh of Massachusetts, ex-Gov. W. L. Douglas of Massachusetts and ex-Gov. Emmett O'Neal of Alabama.

Chairman McCormick, who believes that the great demonstration that will be given the President today will forever wipe out the report that the Democratic leaders have given up all hope of carrying the State, was more positive than ever yesterday that it is all over but the shouting.

"Gentlemen," he said solemnly to the newspaper men when they gathered for the usual evening skimping, "it's going to be a landslide for the President. As you know, I have just returned from a trip West, and when I say that the West is on fire with Wilson sentiment I am telling you the absolute truth. Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota and throughout the Western States the President is strong and getting stronger every day."

Calls It Remarkable Election.

"Nothing can stop this wave of sentiment. It is remarkable, but then you must consider that this is a most remarkable election. It is not an ordinary election by any means. Ordinary political issues have no place in the situation whatever."

"The people can see but one thing. They realize that we are in the midst of a great world crisis. They know that we are out of war, and they know that thousands of men are being killed daily in Europe, while the industrial and economic resources of the European countries are fading away to provide money for munitions. They know we are prosperous here, and they do not intend to swap present conditions and take a chance on an administration which may mean the participation of this country in the great war."

"That's the feeling at the bottom of all this Wilson sentiment. That's what will cause the landslide, and the vote on election day will bear out my prediction."

WARNS OF ELECTION FRAUDS.

Special Federal Prosecutor on Ground in Central States.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 1.—Frank C. Dalley, special Assistant United States Attorney, appointed recently to prosecute alleged election law violations in Ohio, Illinois and Indiana, issued a statement today warning men "who may have engaged in arrangements to threaten and intimidate employees in the matter of voting for Federal offices" that they are without knowledge that their acts constitute a violation of the Federal laws.

The statement quotes a section of the United States criminal code, and explains that it was the same statute on which the prosecution in the Terre Haute election conspiracy case of 1915 was based. It continues:

"The investigation is not confined to threats and intimidations, but extends to all violations of which the United States takes cognizance. Agents have been assigned to investigate reports of fraudulent registration, colonization of voters, the use of money and the corruption of election boards."

PERKINS REPEATS DECEPTION CHARGE

Writes Democratic Chairman McCormick Alleging Fraud in Tariff Issue.

TELLS OF BREAD LINES

Quotes President to Show Purpose Not to Annul Underwood Bill.

Having failed to get a reply to his letter sent recently to Vance McCormick, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, accusing the Democratic campaign managers of fraud and deception in the conduct of their campaign, especially with respect to the tariff issue, George W. Perkins sent another letter to Mr. McCormick yesterday repeating the charge. The letter follows:

"DEAR SIR: You have failed to make any reply to the letter I wrote you the other day resenting the attack you made on me and directly accusing your committee and your candidate with trying to obtain the Presidency by deception and misrepresentation. Not only this, but you are continuing this kind of campaign."

"This morning you publish a cartoon in which you say that American workmen are at work because Wilson preferred war as a last resort. This statement is absolutely false in two respects: First, we are in war with Mexico and the Judge Advocate General of the army has only recently said so in a formal statement; second, our workmen are at work not because we are not at war but because the European nations are at war among themselves and as a consequence are buying huge amounts of war munitions from us, which our workmen are engaged in manufacturing."

Thousands Were Jobless.

"I am confident that these same workmen have not forgotten that when Mr. Wilson and the Democratic party assumed the reins of government on March 4, 1912, they were all at work. They also remember that within six months after the Wilson-Underwood tariff bill went into effect and immediately our industries began to shut down and in a few short months hundreds of thousands of our workmen were jobless. Things were rapidly going from bad to worse. Governors of states, Mayors of cities, groups of citizens were trying in every way to assist the thousands who were in dire distress."

"Suddenly the European war broke out. Orders for munitions began to pour in on us and these idle men were put to work—put to work not because of anything Mr. Wilson or the Democratic party had done, but put to work in spite of what they had done."

Return to Bread Lines.

"When this war is over there is nothing to prevent our going back to precisely the same conditions that existed just before the war broke out. This is so for two reasons. First, the Wilson-Underwood tariff is still on the books; second, only last Saturday in his speech at Shadow Lawn President Wilson said: 'I have but one superstition, namely, that it is bad luck when you start in one direction to turn around and go back. I have acted upon that superstition all my life and I intend to act upon it in the future and I do not see any obstacle that would make me turn back.'"

"In 1914 and the winter of 1915 the first lodging houses, the bread lines, the thousands of men and women out of work were caused by just one thing, namely, the Wilson-Underwood tariff. It was not a question of capital or ready money, for as your own Democratic Governor of Texas said at the time, 'We are broke with our pockets full of money.'"

"I again repeat that you are trying to obtain the Presidency on false pretences and that the campaign has narrowed down to just one issue, namely, Can Wilson get away with it; can he put it over? 'I do not believe he can.'"

PERLMAN FIGHTING WELL.

Hopes of Carrying Sixth Assembly Loom Up Strongly.

Republicans, Progressives, Independence Leaguers and American Party members are making a strong fight in the Sixth Assembly district on the lower East Side to elect as its member of the Assembly Nathan D. Perlman, who has "creditably represented his district for two terms," as William Jay Schieffelin succinctly puts it.

In the last dozen years the Sixth Assembly has been won by the Democracy seven times, including William Sulzer, running as a Progressive Democrat. Perlman has won the district twice, and another popular Republican, Harry Kopp, held it three years. Before that breaking in by the Republicans it was always a Tammany stronghold.

Perlman's constructive legislation and his votes on questions affecting public interests in the last two Legislatures, Republicans feel, will add strength to the State and the national ticket. Perlman is a lawyer at 229 Broadway and is interested in public affairs, particularly affecting New York city. As a special Deputy Attorney-General in 1909 and 1910 he prosecuted violators of the pure food law. He also worked in the movement to remove the horse cars from the East Side and devotes time to the work of the Educational Alliance and other civic and charitable organizations.

SENATOR WALSH CASTS VOTE.

Montana Law Lets Citizen Mail Ballot if He Can't Get Home.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, manager of the Western Democratic national headquarters, cast his ballot in the Presidential election at his office in Chicago today. Under the laws of Montana citizens unable to return home to vote are permitted to ballot by mail. This morning Senator Walsh marked his ballot. A notary public made the necessary affidavit and the vote was forwarded to Montana State officials.

MISS WOODS'S $2 FINE PAID.

Police Commissioner's Cousin Had Turn Up Court Summons.

Miss Mary Appleton Woods, the nineteen-year-old cousin of Police Commissioner Woods, who tore up a court summons when it was served on her, again failed to appear in Yorkville court yesterday when her case was called before Magistrate Barlow. What fate the second summons met is not known.

Miss Woods was represented by her attorney, J. B. Coyle, 27 Cedar street, however, and through him paid a fine of $2 for violating a city ordinance in having her dogs unmuzzled on the street. Miss Woods, who lives at 723 Park avenue, was handed a summons Monday by Patrolman Barry of the Health Squad. She asked what it was and when told angrily tore it into small strips and went her way.

What He Stands For

"YOU ask what road I propose to travel?"

These are the milestones which mark it.

"An Executive responsible to the whole nation.

"A Cabinet chosen from the ablest Americans.

"A foreign policy that stands courteously but firmly for American rights.

"A flag that protects the American in his lawful rights wherever his legitimate business may take him.

"A preparation for trade competition which shall protect all groups of American workmen.

"A government oversight of business which will fearlessly eliminate abuses, but will act on the assumption that the average business man is honest.

"And finally a domestic policy which looks to industrial peace, and to sound and permanent prosperity based upon the development of American trade and the building up of American industries.

"We Americans are in one boat. You cannot strike a blow at one group without injury to all. Common justice and fair play will settle our difficulties if suspicion and bitterness are let alone. These are the principles by which I propose to be guided."
